Development paradigm

Sustainable development ?

Or recognition of limits !

Economic growth or redistribution of wealth ?

- Trickle down: for 1 dollar poverty reduction we need 166 dollar economic growth, which means world wide 3 planets (Growth isn't working, NEF, 2006).

Realistic ?

Not socially, nor environmentally

No other option than redistribution of wealth

Cropland requirements for global production of non-food products

Global cropland devoted to the cultivation of non-food products increased by 37% between 1995 and 2010, making it the fastest growing component of the overall global cropland footprint.

Connection with the SDGs

Food sovereignty interlinked with all goals

- Access to land, water, seeds, credits and technology
- Fair prices and market access (no dumping)
- Healthy environment (air, soils, biodiversity, ..)
- Gender equality
- Education
- Transport possibilities
- Fish stock (oceans)
- Good governance

Main priorities within the 2030 Agenda Framework

- Making the link with overconsumption in Global North and poverty/hunger in the Global South - redistribution
- Critical assessment on the “development” paradigm, the economic growth obsession – put well being first
- Policy coherence – sustainability check – 2030 Agenda: 1 package (no cherry picking)
- Civil society participation – stronger accountability

TOGETHER WE CAN SAVE OUR PLANET

...AND SO WE IN THE EXTREMELY RICH
NATIONS AGREE TO FIND
AN ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY WAY TO CARRY ON BEING EXTREMELY

...IF YOU IN THE EXTREMELY
TO FIND AN
EXTREMELY POOR.
